Chico's Oldest Ice Cream and Candy Store

"We make our own," says it all for this Chico institution! Begun in 1938 when Leonard C. Shubert left Montana, at age 54, to find a location in California for an ice cream shop. His nephew, Charles Pulliam, Sr., joined him three years later and then bought the business from Shubert's widow in 1951.

Not only is Shubert's Ice Cream & Candy in the same building in downtown Chico, but it also uses one of Leonard Shubert's original 5-gallon ice cream-making machines. And the business is still in the same family, currently with three generations of Pulliams making ice cream, rolling out candies and dipping chocolates right on the premises.
